

After viewing Bill Moyers et al's report on a recent "Now" broadcast on PBS, and learning of the pending vote on further deregulation of media companies' ability to extend their already broad ownership of so-called local media outlets, I would like to express my opposition to further relax FCC regulation of the reach major commercial media corporations already exert.

The fact that, to my knowledge, only Mr. Moyers' program has provided extended discussion of issues relevant to further deregulation evidences a manifestation of the most significant negative repercussion of media consolidation. That repercussion being the selective omission of information to the general public.
